Itinerary

Below you will find our suggested itinerary which is completely customisable on your request. If there is something special you would like to see or experience please don't hesitate to ask.

Day 1. Arrival & explore charming Paro town

Descending through clouds and winding through valleys is your first experience of an ancient land, undisturbed by time. Upon arrival at the scenic Paro Airport at 2,280 metres, your private handpicked guide will greet you in the traditions of Bhutan and transfer you to the elegant Uma Paro. After lunch, you begin your exploration of this breathtaking valley. A short 30 minute walk brings you to the 17th century Paro Dzong, towering over Paro. Located above the Paro Chhu river, this is one of Bhutan's most impressive fortresses. Crossing the Paro Chhu river over a traditional cantilever bridge with a wood shingled roof and guardhouses located at each end, a stone path weaves its way gradually up to the dzong. With a total of 13 temples and home to over 200 monks, including a body of novice monks, this fortress is the centre of monastic life in the Paro region. After exploring Paro Dzong take a leisurely walk into Paro town. The road leading into the small and picturesque township is lined with willow trees and large white chortens tower over the towns local archery field. Here feel free to join with the locals and try your hand at archery in the traditional Bhutanese style, before returning to your hotel. Indulge in a traditional Bhutanese hot stone bath, explore the surrounding forests and enjoy dinner in the circular Bukhari restaurant in the company of spectacular views of the Paro Valley.

Day 2. Discover Bhutan's cultural heartland

Cycling on rural backroads you reach the temple, pausing to soak up the atmosphere filled with the chanting of monks

After breakfast, you transfer back to Paro airport for a scenic 30 minute domestic flight to Bumthang - Bhutan's cultural and spiritual heartland and home to the four valleys of this region. Passing over ancient magnolia and alpine forests and four mountain passes, and with a chance to view some of the eastern Himalayan peaks of Bhutan, a scene reminiscent of the Swiss Alps announces that you have arrived in central Bhutan. Arriving at Bumthang you are privately transferred to Amankora Bumthang - with views of the former King's palace, the fortress-style walls and courtyard are a stylish interpretation of Bhutan's ancient dzongs. Your cycling and trekking discovery of Bhutan's spiritual heartland begins at the fabulous Jampey Lhakhang, one of the Kingdom's oldest temples and only a short ride from Amankora. With the option to cycle on rural backroads you reach the temple - pausing to soak up the atmosphere filled with the chanting of monks, you circle the temple

Day 3. Ancient traditions & festivals

Joining local Bhutanese families who come from far and wide, soak up the rich festival atmosphere

Today is the second day of one of Bhutan's most intimate and traditional tsechu festivals - the annual three-day Nanglakhang Tsechu Festival or swan valley festival. Held in the grounds of a 12th century monastery in a remote area of Bhutan, join Bhutanese families who come from far and wide in their finest traditional dress, find your spot in the dzong's courtyard and enjoy an authentic and truly engaging experience as monks in colourful costumes and elaborate masks perform ancient dances and observe time-honoured traditions. Join with the crowd as the dances are punctuated by the performances of the Atsaras. The clowns of the festival, they entertain the colourful crowd with their fun antics. Enjoy a picnic lunch among groups of Bhutanese families who join with their neighbours, friends and family at this major social event of the year. A truly authentic experience of a lifetime. After a day of incredible experiences, enjoy dinner tonight in the lodge's dining room.

Day 4. Colour, culture & atmosphere

Today is the third and final day of the Nanglakhang Tsechu Festival. Savouring the colour, culture and atmosphere until lunchtime, you return to Amankora in time to enjoy lunch in the courtyard overlooking the old royal palace. In the late afternoon you visit the Jakar Dzong or fortress of the white bird. One of the bigger fortresses in Bhutan, wander the cobblestoned courtyard and take in the valley views below. It is then time to discover the Wangdi Choling Palace - the birthplace of the first king and the main summer residence of the entire royal court throughout his and the second kings rein. This 19th century palace now functions as a modest monastic school and is home to a body of novice monks.

Some kind words

"And what a trip it was! The organisation was faultless. And the experiences were breathtaking."

Mark, London

In the press

"Glamorous resorts tick many boxes, but your sense of adventure is rarely one of them. For those who like to explore the roads less travelled... there's Seven Skies."

Gourmet Traveller, November 2010

Day 5. Mountain vistas & ancient fortresses

Pass by terraces of radiant green rice fields, azure rivers, water prayer wheels and whitewashed farmhouses

Today you head east to the rugged Black Mountains and the mystical Phobjikha Valley – a region famous for its remote glacial wilderness, abundant wildlife and ancient monastery. Taking around 4-5 hours you stop briefly at Chumey village to witness a colourful roadside display of the Yathra weaving this region is famous for. Enjoy the climb over mountain passes, soak up the stunning panorama of some of Bhutan's highest peaks, and pass by terraces of radiant green rice fields, azure rivers, water prayer wheels and whitewashed farmhouses. The town of Trongsa, perched dramatically above a gorge and seemingly floating in the clouds, is the perfect place to break your journey. Here you pause to visit the museum housed in an old watchtower, and the commanding 16th century Trongsa Dzong. Stopping to enjoy a picnic lunch, you ascend the Pele La pass with prayer flags fluttering in the breeze. Arriving in the Black Mountains, you are officially in central Bhutan - a region famous for its masses of thick high-altitude bamboo, endangered black-necked cranes and bright yellow fields of mustard crops on the hillside. In the afternoon you arrive at stunning Amankora Gangtey. With its traditional bukhari log fire, the lodge's living room sets the scene for pre-dinner drinks before a rustic three-course dinner. A ballooning experience of a lifetime awaits.

Day 6. Balloon & trek through pristine valleys

The beautiful Phobjikha Valley

People, places, culture

- Spinning the prayer wheels at an ancient monastery
- Free-wheel cycling down from Cheli La Pass back to Paro town
- The feeling of serenity and awe at Bumdra Monastery's sky burial ground
- The first time the fabled Tiger's Nest comes into view
- Floating in a hot air balloon over Bhutan's incredible landscape
- Peaceful water prayer wheels
- The intimate Kyichu Monastery prayer flag blessing
- Trying ema datshi for the first time - a spice revelation!
- Waking to the prayer flags whipping in the breeze at Bumdra Monastery
- The atmospheric sound of the Bhutanese horn lingering in the air
- Joining local Bhutanese for a spot of archery
- Warm, shy smiles of novice monks at an ancient monastery
- An education in the art of Red Panda Weissbier in the company of Fritz Maurer and some local Gouda cheese

This morning, it is an early start as you make your way through the remote wilderness of the Phobjikha Valley to reach the launch spot for your ballooning experience. Boarding the balloon, enjoy the gentle lift off as you begin your experience of Bhutan in a whole new way. Soak up the jaw-dropping views in the serene Himalayan silence as you float past azure rivers, glacial valleys, ancient monasteries, local Bhutanese villages and rugged mountains with the sun slowly filling the valley. An experience of a lifetime. Back at the lodge and after breakfast overlooking the spectacular glacial valley floor, you begin trekking through the pristine wilderness of the Phobjikha Valley to the 450-year-old Gangtey Goemba. Occupying a beautiful hilltop position, this intimate and serene monastery houses a cavernous prayer hall decorated with beautifully ornate paintings. Leaving the monastery, you pass by small villages, alpine forests and mountain streams until you reach the open plains of the alpine wetland valley and the winter home of the endangered black-necked crane. After spotting for black-necked cranes in the valley, make your way to a small local village called Kingathang and experience traditional village life. Accept an offering by the local families who live here of a favourite Bhutanese specialty of this remote valley - salted butter with roasted puffed rice. It is time to return to your lodge for lunch. Rest and relax – enjoy a Bhutanese hot stone bath, read a book by the crackling fire in the lodge’s lounge or explore the surrounding village.

Accommodation & Dining

Amankora Gangtey or Gangtey Goemba Lodge - Suite or Guest Room ... Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner, Morning and Afternoon Tea

Day 7. Discover the fertile valley of Punakha

Today you leave Phobjikha and head west for Punakha – the fertile, warm and beautiful valley located at the confluence of the Mo and Pho Chhu rivers. Taking around 3.5 hours, enjoy a scenic journey as you travel through scattered village settlements and mixed forest of oak and pine forests. On the way, stop to view the ruined fortress of Wangduephodrang. The beautiful Punakha Valley abounds with terraced rice crops, orchards and plantations. We stop to take a short walk through rice fields to Chime Lhakhang - the abode of fertility and a temple dedicated to the infamous Divine Madman. One of the more popular Buddhist saints, legend holds the Divine Madman combined the body of a cow and goat to create the national animal of Bhutan - the Takin. A pilgrimage site for women unable to conceive, the Divine Madman is a cultural icon within Bhutanese history. You arrive at Uma Punakha in time for lunch - enjoy the delicious food and the spectacular valley view from the outdoor terrace, rest and relax.

Accommodation & Dining

Uma Punakha - Valley View Deluxe Room ... Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner, Morning and Afternoon Tea

Day 8. Mountain rivers & ancient dzongs

After a leisurely breakfast, head to the upper valley of Punakha and begin your discovery of this area on foot, trekking for one and half hour to two hours before we reach the 30 meter tall Yuley Namgay stupa located high above Yambesa Village. Soak up the stunning views of the Punakha Valley on this moderate walk. After lunch, visit the Punakha Dzong - constructed in 1637 at the confluence of the Pho and Mo Chhu rivers it is the winter residence of the central monk body, the former capital of Bhutan and the second oldest dzong in Bhutan. This formidable structure holds a commanding position at the river confluence with its white washed walls, steeped entrance stairs and ornate interior. Crossing the cantilever bridge, the dzong's stunning temples, inner courtyards and intricate paintings are revealed. Enjoy dinner prepared by the area's finest chefs under starlight on the terrace.

Accommodation & Dining

Uma Punakha - Valley View Deluxe Room ... Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner, Morning and Afternoon Tea

Day 9. Experience charming Thimphu town

Located in a breathtaking valley, make your way to the charming small town of Thimphu

Today you head to Thimphu, Bhutan's capital, and the Taj Tashi Thimphu. After a journey of around 3 hours, relax then explore one of the world's most enigmatic capital cities - an enchanting mix of crimson-robed monks, centuries-old whitewashed fortresses, policeman directing traffic and men and women in colourful dress. Discover the 169 foot Buddah Dordenma sitting high above the Thimphu Valley, then explore the striking National Memorial Chorten - a religious site used for daily worship - and watch the men, women and children complete their circular pilgrimage, chant oms and offer up butter lamps. Then wander Thimphu's small laneways exploring local teashops and handicraft emporiums displaying some of Bhutan's most intricate hand-loomed textiles, including the famous Gho and Kira - Bhutan's traditional dress.

Accommodation & Dining

Taj Tashi or Amankora Thimphu - Deluxe Room or Suite ... Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner, Morning and Afternoon Tea

Day 10. Deluxe overnight trek

After breakfast you transfer to the Sangchokor Buddhist Institute and the starting point for your trek to the 8th century Bumdra Monastery located at 3,800 metres and your camp for the night. You begin trekking through forests of pine and holly enjoying views down to Paro Valley and the Paro Dzong. Passing prayer flags and ancient stone cairns, take in the rhythm of Bhutanese life. Chochotse temple, a collection of private mediation huts, announces your arrival at your lunch spot. With spectacular views of Taktsang Monastery clinging to the cliffside, after lunch a final ascent through forests of fir trees, juniper bushes and shrubs of rhododendrons brings you to your destination - the grounds of Bumdra Monastery and your camp. The rest of the afternoon is yours to enjoy. The camp's dining pavilion sets the scene for this evening's dinner, before a nightcap by the bonfire under a sky of brilliant stars.

Accommodation & Dining

Deluxe Camp ... Breakfast, Lunch, Dinner, Morning and Afternoon Tea

Day 11. Discover the fabled Tiger's Nest

Trekking through forests of pine and holly enjoy the views down to the spectacular Taktang Monastery

If you are keen to get even higher above the clouds, you have the option to visit a Bhutanese sky burial ground this morning. A 45-minute ascent from Bumdra Monastery along old yak herder trails delivers you to the grounds, which on clear days offer views of the majestic Mount Jhomolhari. After enjoying a delicious breakfast, you make your gradual descent along switchback trails shaded by a canopy of giant hemlock trees. Breaking for refreshments at Yosergang Monastery, you cross small streams and pass water prayer wheels until the golden roof of the fabled Tiger's Nest comes into view. An important Buddhist pilgrimage site, this impressive hermitage is located on the face of a sheer 1,000 metre granite cliff. Explore its numerous temples and meditation caves, and enjoy the spectacular architecture on display. Have your prayer flags blessed by the resident monk before continuing your descent to the Paro Valley and returning to the sanctuary of Uma Paro.

Day 12. Cycle among snowcapped mountains

Setting out on a breathtaking drive to the Cheli La Pass at 3,810 metres, you are greeted by views to the magnificent snowcapped Mount Jomolhari and the Haa Valley below. Hopping on your bike to begin your freewheel back to Paro town, you break your ride at Kila Nunnery – carved into the cliffside, this 9th century nunnery's temples and scattered meditation huts are home to 50 nuns of varying ages. Reached after an hour's walk through fir, rhododendron and pine forests, take a break at the nunnery and then continue your freewheel back to Paro town. It is then time to return to Uma Paro to enjoy your final night here.

FAQs

Can I choose my own departure date?

Yes, your departure date is completely up to you and all of our journeys can depart throughout the year. Please contact us for more information about what to expect at the time you wish to travel.

What does a private journey mean?

This means that a handpicked Seven Skies expert will travel exclusively with you for the duration of the trip, using local personnel and their own experiences to guide you on a journey that simply wouldn't be possible any other way.

Can I customise my experience?

Absolutely. All our experiences can be customised to suit your needs and interests.

What is active and experiential travel?

All of our journeys include active experiences such as cycling, trekking, kayaking, hot air ballooning, snorkelling and horse riding. We believe the best way to experience a destination is actively. In addition to this our journeys include a variety of cultural, food and wine, natural and wildlife experiences.

Some of the experiences are active. How fit do I have to be?

Apart from the climb to Mount Kinabalu in Borneo (which requires a good level of fitness) all of our active experiences are gentle and designed to be enjoyed by everyone. If you do have any concerns though, just let us know - we can customise your experience to suit you.

How have you crafted each experience you offer?

Each aspect of our experiences is handpicked and painstakingly road-tested. Every detail has been scrutinised to ensure your experience is exceptional, from the rooms to the guides to the restaurants. Our uncompromising attention to detail ensures you will get the best of the best.

When I am on the ground, are the itineraries flexible?

Because you will be travelling in your own private group, we have the ultimate flexibility to be able to change the order of the itinerary in a day depending on your interests, spend a little longer somewhere or enjoy impromptu experiences. In a lot of ways our experiences are like travelling independently but with us taking care of everything.

Is my journey fully inclusive?

Each journey is fully inclusive except for some meals, drinks and airfares. Where a meal is not included we will recommend our favourite restaurants and organise your reservation for you. For more information please contact us.

Who will be guiding me?

Your experience will be guided by one of our handpicked expert local guides.

Who will I be dealing with once I make a booking?

We offer a very personalised and attentive level of service. From the time of your first enquiry until the time you return home you will have one point of contact - either Seven Skies' founder, Nathan Wedding, or Clare Turner.

Can you help with airfares?

Absolutely. Once you book your experience, we will send you a guest pack which will tell you which flights you need to book for the journey.

Can I upgrade my room categories if I want?

Absolutely. We have selected some of the best available rooms in the properties where you will be staying. If you prefer a higher room category we can very easily arrange your journey in this way.

How far in advance do I need to book?

We like to encourage our guests to book as far in advance as possible. This is because a number of the properties we use are small and exclusive hotels with a limited number of rooms.

Can I book online?

Because we offer a very personalised level of service and like to get to know our guests, we don't currently offer online booking. Please contact us and we'll be in touch to discuss the experience you're interested in.

Sound like the experience of a lifetime?

To book your private journey or if you have any questions at all please do not hesitate to contact us.

We'd love to let you know more about our extraordinary experiences and how we can customise your journey for you.
