The Rum Diary 12

rum, applejack brandy, maple syrup, fresh lemon, orange, and peppermint

Credited as the founder of Gonzo Journalism, Hunter S. Thompson's famous works include "The Rum Diaries" based on his time spent in Puerto Rico. In addition to his literary accomplishments, Thompson was known for his lifelong love of alcohol and firearms, along with his inveterate hatred of Richard Nixon.

Bubbly Zelda 13

cherry vodka, gin, champagne, and cherry

A symbol of the Roaring Twenties, Zelda was notorious for her audacious behavior when she married the famed author F. Scott Fitzgerald. It was the couple's jealous-filled marriage as literary celebrities that drove Zelda to live out the later part of her life in a mental institution.

Churchill 13

armagnac, orange-flavored brandy, egg white, nutmeg, and raw agave

When it came to the subject of brandy, Churchill once proclaimed, "I neither want it nor need it, but I should think it pretty hazardous to interfere with the ineradicable habit of a lifetime." Among other things, Churchill was also known for being the greatest war leader of all time, the only Prime Minister to receive a Noble Prize in Literature, and the first person to be made an Honorary Citizen of the United States.

Papa 13

bourbon, scotch whisky, seasonal blackberries, citrus, and passion fruit syrup

Ernest Hemingway, the Noble and Pulitzer Prize winning author and journalist, whose works all fall under the "American Classics" genre, nicknamed himself "Papa" at the ripe age of 20. By 53, Hemingway had married four times, reported from three wars, and survived a plane crash. He was also known to have a drink or two... or seven.

Blacklisted Basil 12

vodka, fresh basil, lemon, and cane sugar

Getting work in this city is hard enough, but being put on the Hollywood Blacklist can make a screenwriter turn to the bottle. Which is exactly what wise-cracking Dorothy Parker did (after she was nominated for two Academy Awards).

Booker and Bacon 14

bourbon, black walnut bitter, caramel, and bacon

Educator, author, and presidential advisor Booker T. Washington wrote over 14 books that helped contribute to the rise of the Civil Rights Movement. Cheers to that.

The Spicy Native 13

tequila reposado, white grapefruit, pineapple, and california red pepper

The award-winning California author and journalist Joan Didion became famous for her spicy writings that explored the disintegration of American novels and cultural chaos.

Cool Clemens 12

tequila, fresh lime, and seasonal cucumbers

Samuel Clemens, better known by his pen name Mark Twain, is lauded as the "greatest American humorist of his age". His wit and cool-as-a-cucumber personality made him popular among presidents, artists, industrialists and royalty.

Honey Child 12

spiced rum, clover honey, strawberries, and lime

Her bubbly personality and unmatched cooking skills made chef, author and TV personality Julia Child the bees-knees of the American public. So much so, that her debut cookbook was prided for introducing French Cuisine to the United States. She was also known to use a prodigious amount of alcohol in her recipes.

Choose Your Own Adventure 12

açaí liqueur, lemonade, and your choice of seasonal herbs and fresh fruit, shaken and served in a mason jar

The "Choose Your Own Adventure" book concept was developed by Edward Packard in the late 1970s, and let the reader choose the protagonist's actions and the plot's outcome.
