Beers On Tap

Golden Nelson Ale ... 4.50

Golden straw in color, this light bodied ale is hopped with Nelson Sauvignon, a rather unusual New Zealand hop. Named for the Sauvignon Blanc grape, Sauvignon hops are noted for their distinctive berry-like flavor and aroma. Made with German pilsner malt, a touch of Canadian honey malt and fermented with American ale yeast.
OG 1.045 IBU 25 ABV 4.5%

Red Monkey Amber IPA ... 5.50

Classic citrusy West Coast hop flavors combine with a bigger malt base than your typical IPA. Made with Crisp Marris Otter, German Munich malts and Cascade, Centennial and Columbus hops. Dry-hopped for additional citrus punch.
OG 1.068 IBU 68 ABV 6.7%

Jemmy Stout ... 5.50

Stouts are full-bodied black ales with flavors of dark roasted coffee and chocolate. Ours is made with Crisp Marris Otter malt, a bit of wheat for smoothness, Perle and Centennial hops and American ale yeast.
OG: 1.061 IBU 47 ABV 6%

Belgina WIT ... 4.75

A light-bodied, cloudy, Belgian wheat beer. Made with wheat, oats, and barley and subtly spiced with Curacao orange peel and toasted Indian coriander. Perfect for summertime drinking!

A firkin is an old English unit of volume. The name is derived from the Middle Dutch word vierdekijn, which means fourth, i.e. a quarter of a full-size barrel. For beer and ale a firkin is equal to nine imperial gallons, seventy-two pints, or a quarter of a barrel (40.91481 liters). Casks in this size (themselves called firkins) are the most common container for cask ale. A firkin is equal to half a kilderkin.
