MODERN AMERICAN CLASSICS

THE STORY

READ WALL is a brand built on the simple idea of making classic American sportswear, updated for the modern customer. With an emphasis on impeccable quality, READ WALL makes versatile clothing and accessories that gain character and personality with every wear. All items are made by hand at artisan factories in the USA.

Growing up and attending prep school in Washington, DC, the namesake brand founder developed a deep admiration for iconic American preppy clothing—think well-loved and worn in oxfords, sun-faded chinos, and the perfect navy blazer. Read graduated college in 2009 and set out to create a brand based on classic staples updated with a more natural, athletic fit. In 2011, the brand marketed their first signature button-down shirt under the brand name Read's Clothing Project. The brand re-launched in 2012 as READ WALL, offering a full line of American sportswear staples.
