Glossario

Buck A long drink containing spirit mixed with ginger ale and lime juice.

Cobbler A drink consisting of fortified wine or spirits, sugar, pineapple syrup, served over crushed ice and garnished with fresh fruit and mint sprig.

Cocktail Typically composed of a base spirit, a modifier, and an accent. The cocktail is 3-5 ounces and served well chilled, without ice, in a stemmed cocktail glass.

Collins A tall mixed drink made with primary spirit, lemon juice, sugar and soda water, garnished with a orange maraschino cherry pinwheel.

Daisy A drink containing spirit, lemon juice, sugar and soda water. It is customarily served over crushed ice in a metal tankard

Fix A drink served in a highball glass containing spirit (originally gin), pineapple syrup, lemon juice, sugar and crushed ice.

Fizz A mixed drink made with a primary spirit, lemon juice, egg white, sugar and soda water. A fizz should be served in a fizz glass, without ice, or in an old fashioned glass with ice.

Flip A mixture of fresh eggs, spirits, sugar and citrus juice.

Grog Any rum based cocktail made with fruit and sugar. Originally grog was a mixture of rum and water issued to sailors in the Royal Navy.

Highball A tall drink consisting of one spirit and one mixer (traditionally soda water or ginger ale) that is served in a highball glass (10 - 12 ounces).

Julep A drink mixed with spirit (usually bourbon), sugar, mint and soda water. Served with crushed ice.

Punch A drink comprised of at least 5 ingredients, most commonly: Spirit, sugar, juice, spice, and water.

Sling A tall cocktail made with a spirit, citrus juice and sugar. Most slings also include soda.

Smash A short Julep served in an old-fashioned glass without any soda.

Liquori

Our philosophy to cocktail preparation mirrors that of our food & wine; premium spirits coupled with the freshest seasonal ingredients in the hands of a skilled and passionate bartender yields great libations. Throw in some cocktail history, a little lore, a few antidotes and the stage is set for enjoying more than just a wonderful tippie. Our goal is to demystify the cocktail, bring back the basics and focus on the classics, both those you may immediately recognize and those that may need an introduction. Remember, great cocktails, like life, are about the journey. We hope you enjoy the ride!*
