FOR THE EDUCATED DRINKER

JAMESON VS. FIREBALL
BY JANE DOE. PM BARTENDER

Fireball Whisky sales are soaring and the liquor is becoming a threat to more established brands.

In 2011, Fireball sold $1.9 million worth of whisky in gas stations, convenience stores, and supermarkets, writes Devin Leonard at Bloomberg Businessweek. By 2013, sales had leapt to $61 million, putting Fireball ahead of Jameson Irish Whiskey and Patrón tequila.

The $61 million figure doesn't even include bars, another popular place to consume Fireball.
